Real People

add a living dimension to career exploration programs.

Facts and figures give only a 2-dimensional view of a job. But career biographies add a third dimension.

Career biographies look at a career through the eyes of a real person. You see it in real life. You see how people change their career outlooks. You see how people cope with career crises.

With VocBiosOnline, you can:

- job-shadow on the Internet — without leaving the classroom
- give your students virtual career mentors who tell it like it is
- explore careers from all over the U.S.—not just locally

The career world is changing at the speed of the Internet

Yet, with a career biography you can show how real people deal with career upheavals in real life.

With career biographies you'll be able to show career coping skills that real people use to survive.

Give your students a step up. Add VocBiosOnline.com to your career education program.
