

Every career has a story, and no one tells that story better than we do!

Stories create a lasting impression, and so does VocBio, offering over 1000 fascinating career stories of real people sharing the stories of their real jobs and how they got there, from education, work history, and the daily skills they need to keep up.

Help your students and clients research all types of careers, from glamorous to practical, entry-level to advanced. Search is available by a variety of relevant keywords, career cluster or pathway, O*Net, DOT, or Holland Code. With easy username and password login, access is available wherever they have internet. Read online, download, or print to read later.

Career Stories, available only at VocBio, offer 4-6 page magazine-style profiles complete with education and job histories, interests, special skills, work-life balance, special info sections and data files with regularly updated job-related facts overview.

A unique complement to every careers program
